

Translate documents and emails instantly

Today's global businesses need to communicate and understand information in multiple languages.

Overview

Amikai Enterprise is a powerful, easy-to-use application for immediate translation of business documents and emails. Combining the highest quality machine translation technologies and integrated seamlessly into the leading desktop applications, Amikai Enterprise unlocks information previously inaccessible due to language. As an online subscription service, Amikai Enterprise is available from any internet-ready computer and delivers fast, accurate, reliable translations within seconds.

Amikai Enterprise Benefits

Anyone dealing frequently with information in a language they do not speak will benefit from Amikai Enterprise:

- Eliminate delay - translation turnaround is immediate
- Allow bilingual personnel to focus on their core responsibilities rather than translation
- Enable employees to access information that was previously too expensive to translate
- Reduce the stress of dealing with information in a foreign language
- Low total cost of ownership - no servers to maintain, easy administration, unlimited translation

Overcome the Language Barrier

Amikai Enterprise enables business interactions and access to information sources that were previously too slow, costly, or outright impossible:

- Read and understand large volumes of foreign news, industry research, or competitor marketing materials
- Correspond with overseas partners or suppliers without speaking their language
- Enable employees to read and understand internal documents produced by overseas offices
- Allow managers from companies in different countries to communicate following a merger or joint venture

What is Translation Software?

Translation software is an effective translation solution for today's cost-minded global organizations. The software converts text from one language to another, but unlike translation dictionaries, it analyzes and translates whole sentences, not just single words. Translation software does not always provide perfect translations, but it is immensely useful when applied to certain situations.

Translation technology is especially suited for the following:

- Translating large quantities of content: Translate hundreds of pages effortlessly.
- Immediate translations: No waiting for translations - the results instantly appear in front of you.
- Frequent translations: Perform translations as often as you would like.
- Tight budget: Translate as much as you want without increasing expenses.

The ASP Advantage

Designed to support millions of users, Amikai's underlying software platform combines industry-leading machine translation technologies with proprietary linguistic enhancements to deliver the highest quality software-based translation.

Our web-based approach enables us to produce compelling translation applications, readily add new features, and meet the most stringent performance, scalability and reliability standards - at a price you can easily afford. There is no server software to maintain, and system upgrades are delivered quickly and transparently to every user.

The Amikai software platform provides the following unique advantages:

Superior Translation Quality. Amikai's distributed architecture employs best-of-breed translation technologies integrated with various proprietary linguistic improvements, producing high quality software-based translations.

Multiple Language Support. Amikai Enterprise is the only solution that supports translation of multiple languages on one platform with no client-side changes.

Low Cost of Ownership. There is no server software to install or maintain. Upgrading client software is automatic and requires minimal disk space on the end-user computer.

Rapid Deployment. Following signup, a customer account can be up and running the next day, with users performing translations directly from their desktops.

Remote Accessibility. The translation client application can be downloaded and installed onto any number of computers from the Amikai Enterprise Center web portal.

Speed. Computation is performed by Amikai's server farm, delivering the fastest translations possible - speed that is unattainable by desktop translation software.

Security. All server requests are performed over SSL.

Proven Reliability. Currently used by millions of users, the Amikai translation platform ensures utmost dependability.

Amikai Enterprise was designed from the ground up to be easy to use and maintain while producing the highest quality translations. In designing the product, we chose simple, powerful features that users would readily incorporate into their regular daily workflow.

AmiClick

AmiClick is the downloadable software component of Amikai Enterprise that integrates translation directly into the desktop.

Desktop Application Plug-ins

Plug-ins to Microsoft Word, Excel, PowerPoint, Outlook and Adobe Acrobat, with support for Outlook Express. One click translates an entire document in seconds.

TranslationPad

Useful for immediate translation of text from within any application. Just type or copy-and-paste and translate.

Optimized Email Translation

Support for email-specific phrases and vocabulary produces improved quality translation for emails.

Amikai Enterprise Center

Easy-to-use website for user account administration, noun dictionary management, and download of latest software client.

Noun Dictionary

Shared customizable dictionary enables a company to tailor the translations to its own unique vocabulary.

Account Administration Tool

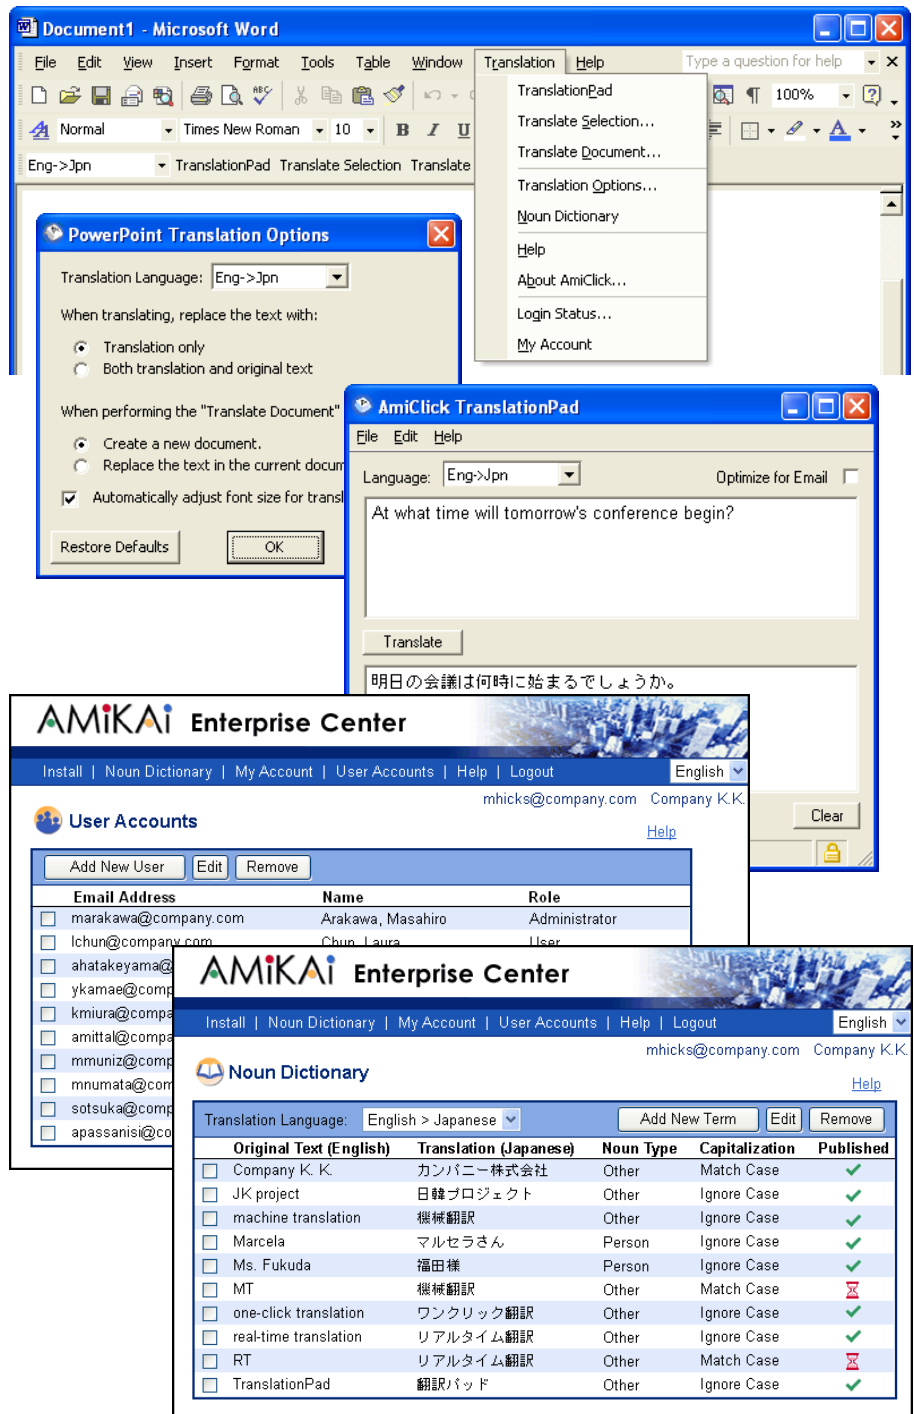

Web interface for Administrators to easily create and manage user accounts.

Secure Translation

All translation requests are sent over SSL to ensure confidentiality.

Bilingual User Interface

Supports both Japanese and English user interfaces, which can be chosen on a per-user basis.

Contact Us

If you have any questions regarding Amikai Enterprise or any of our other services, please contact us at any time!

Amikai K.K.

1-4-6- Nishishinbashi
 Minato-ku, Tokyo 105-0003
 Tel: +81 (0) 3-5157-0130
 Fax: +81 (0) 3-5157-0131
 info@amikai.com